I am the Singing Teacher at Froebelian School.

Recently relocated to Leeds from London, I studied at the Royal Academy of Music and English National Opera. I have twelve years experience in teaching singing to children, teenagers and adults, in private practice and at a Girls' School for the past few years, Dr. Challoner's School in Chalfont and St. George's in Mayfair.

A very enthusiastic and conscientious teacher of singing, I enjoy preparing students for examinations, performances, auditions and competitions. Many students choose to not do any of these but enjoy singing for themselves or in choirs. Styles range from musical theatre to classical and rock to pop!

Lessons are weekly, rotating on a timetable so nobody misses that same academic lesson each week. 30 minute lessons are £20 and to be paid in advance every term. I provide copies of music and also ask students to buy a music book when needed.

Please get in touch if you would like to know more!
